01 Executive Intelligence Verdict

Proceed with Strategic Priorities

The campaign should proceed while specific gaps are addressed to strengthen performance. The strategic position of 'Proceed with Strategic Priorities' is supported by the strong scores in the GEON pillars, particularly in Visibility and Market Fit, indicating a solid foundation for expanding market presence and pursuing strategic growth. The brand's high AI visibility and competitive exposure further justify this position, as they suggest a strong foothold in the market with room for strategic enhancements.

02 Executive Summary

The brand is well-positioned in the Israeli dessert market, particularly strong in AI visibility with a dominant presence in AI-driven search results.

The campaign intelligence score of 60/100 indicates room for improvement, but the brand's strong visibility and market fit provide a robust platform for growth.

TOP STRATEGIC FINDINGS

- The brand has a dominant AI visibility with 92.4% presence across measured engines.
- Competitive exposure is moderate at 33/100, with no competitor owning any buyer questions outright.
- GEON scores are strong in Trust, Authority, Visibility, Context, and Market Fit, indicating a well-rounded market presence.

TOP COMPETITIVE RISKS

- Consistency is average at 55/100, which could affect brand reliability and customer retention.
- The decision leakage is low at 8/100, suggesting potential gaps in capturing decision-making processes.
- Search demand shows an average position of 6, indicating potential for improvement in search engine rankings.

TOP MISSED OPPORTUNITIES

- Improving consistency could enhance brand reliability and customer loyalty.
- Leveraging AI visibility to improve Google search performance could increase overall market presence.
- Exploring additional data on customer journey stages like Discovery and Conversion could provide insights for targeted improvements.

CAMPAIGN IMPLICATIONS

The campaign should focus on leveraging the brand's strong AI visibility and market fit to enhance consistency and search engine performance, while exploring opportunities for strategic partnerships and expanding distribution channels.

Primary recommendation

Focus on improving consistency and search engine rankings while leveraging strong AI visibility to enhance market presence and drive sales growth.

Market Fit	79	Strong	Monitor	Emphasize product-market fit in campaigns to highlight the brand's alignment with consumer needs.

04 AI vs Google Intelligence

GOOGLE STRONG · AI WEAK

0 (0%)

Customers who search find the business; customers who ask an AI assistant are shown someone else. Discovery holds, recommendation leaks.

AI STRONG · GOOGLE WEAK

37 (100%)

AI assistants surface the business but search does not confirm it. Validation stalls because the claim cannot be checked.

INVISIBLE IN BOTH

0 (0%)

The business is absent from both channels — there is no discovery to convert.

ALIGNED AND VISIBLE

0 (0%)

Discovery and validation reinforce each other. These are the positions worth defending.

HOW EACH GAP AFFECTS THE BUYING JOURNEY

GAP	DISCOVERY	VALIDATION	TRUST	COMPARISON	RECOMMENDATION	CAMPAIGN PERFORMANCE
AI strong · Google weak	Assistants introduce the business, so discovery happens — but through a channel the campaign cannot bid on.	The buyer searches to verify what the assistant said and finds thin confirmation. Validation is where this leaks.	An unverifiable recommendation erodes trust faster than no recommendation at all.	The business enters comparisons but cannot support its position with search evidence.	Recommendation is working. The risk is that it does not survive the buyer's fact-check.	Landing pages receive assistant-referred traffic that arrives already sceptical.

05 AI Visibility Analysis

ENGINE	VISIBILITY	TOP-3 PLACEMENT	ACCURACY	SENTIMENT	SHARE	NARRATIVE
ChatGPT	69.7%	32 (97%)	Accurate	0.00	72.7%	Consistent

Copilot	100%	49 (94.2%)	Accurate	0.00	45.4%	Consistent
Grok	No data	—	—	—	—	—

Recommendation presence is ranking-based: it counts answers where the brand placed in the top 3 of a ranked or listed response. AI engines do not expose an explicit recommendation flag.

06 Competitor Intelligence

The brand appears in all 37 measured buyer questions, indicating strong competitive control. No competitor holds an uncontested position, which suggests that the brand's visibility and engagement are effective in maintaining presence across key queries.

WHY COMPETITORS APPEAR INSTEAD

Competitors appear due to their visibility rather than having uncontested positions. None of the competitors own any buyer questions outright, indicating that their presence is not due to superior authority or trust but rather due to their visibility in the market.

15 Lost and Missed Opportunities

The campaign should focus on enhancing the recommendation stage to convert interest into sales. Given the current leakage, there is an opportunity to strengthen the messaging around the unique attributes of the products, such as being handmade, vegan, gluten-free, and suitable for various dietary needs.

Existing demand not captured

0 items

Publish and rank. Nobody holds these positions, so the cost of entry is lowest here.

Demand captured by competitors

0 items

Displacement work — requires beating an incumbent answer, not just existing.

Demand that can be developed

0 items

Strengthen what already half-works: depth, internal linking, and titles on positions already earned.

Strategic opportunities not currently addressed

0 items

Structural investment — authority, evidence and coverage that accrue over quarters, not weeks.

All listed opportunities carry a modelled monetary estimate.

16 Decision Leakage

The decision leakage analysis indicates that the main point of loss occurs during the recommendation stage, where 7.6% of potential buyers do not proceed with a purchase after encountering the brand. This leakage suggests that while the brand is highly visible in recommendations, there is still a notable percentage of customers who choose not to engage further.
